The numbers are higher now than when the shutdown happened. Are teachers going to be able to teach or spend the day keeping kids distanced with masks?

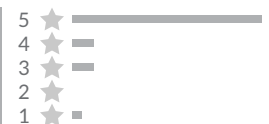

Teachers have enough on them just teaching. How can we expect them to have this extra strain on their day? Teacher or Covid 19 rapid response team?

Will faucets and paper towel holders in restrooms be touchless?

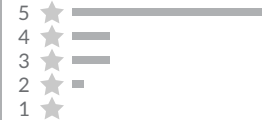

I know that the faucets in restrooms require you to hold them while water runs to wash your hands which defeats the purpose of keeping germs away

How will teachers pace a virtual class (the way they would live)? E.g. for the faster kids - what alternatives?

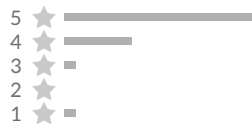

while learning isn't totally customized in class, the teachers do have tools to speed up or slow down as they assess participation/skills.
